

ICON

098

TOYS
August 2011

DAVID ROCKWELL
The American architect applies child psychology to the playground

FLORIS HOVERS
Playful thoughts and litter boats with the Peter Pan of Dutch design

CONSTRUCTION KITS
How children's building blocks changed the face of architecture

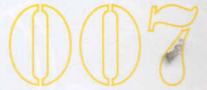

INTERNATIONAL DESIGN,
ARCHITECTURE & CULTURE

UK	£5.00
EUR	€8.99
USA	$9.99

9 771479 945024 08

LEGO BY FOSTER
ADJAYE
FAT
DSDHA
MAKE ATMOS
AOC

Cover
IMAGE: BY PETER GUENZEL

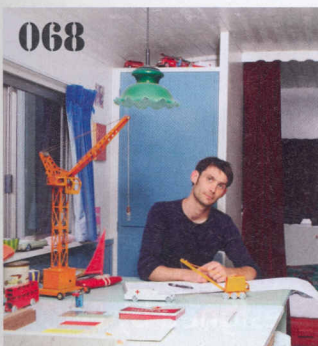

062

082

068

LEADER	School of block	009
SCENE	China's carbon-copy Austrian village	012
DIARY	Events to see this month	014
ANATOMY OF	Makerbot, the 3D printer you can build yourself	016
RETHINK	Artworklove gets clever with the car registration plate	019
FIVE MOST WANTED	Daniel Charny's objects of desire	020
ICON OF THE MONTH	Taliban favourite: the Casio F-91W watch	022

FRONT

NEW

Zaha Hadid's swerving Glasgow transport museum, Plasma Studio's megastructural expo in Xi'an, sport-inspired tables by Konstantin Grcic at Galerie Kreo, a colourful skatepark in Mérida, Nika Zupanc's new line of luxurious furniture, Richard Rogers' transformation of a Barcelona bullring and our round-up of Clerkenwell Design Week

FEATURES

ARCHITECTURAL TOYS	Did modernism begin in the kindergarten?	062
FLORIS HOVERS	The Dutch toy designer on simple pleasures	068
LEGO REIMAGINED	What happens when you give some top British architects some classic Lego to play with?	074
DAVID ROCKWELL	The American architect reinvents the playground	082

REVIEW

Architecture goes to war, bra designers go into space, and Pablo Bronstein goes back to Regency London

PRODUCTS

Selected products including lighting, furniture and flooring

DIRECTORY

A noticeboard for design, retail and services

BACK PAGE

Peter Zumthor's Serpentine Gallery Pavilion